

"KILLERS ARE ANNOYING" BY SKY TALLONE (COMEDY)
ELMER (60+) & JERRY (20-40)

INT. LAUNDROMAT - DAY

Elmer waits for his laundry when he hears someone screaming his name outside.

JERRY (O.S.)
Elmer! Hey, Elmer!!

Elmer looks out the window to see Jerry, the guy he saved, running across the street towards him. Elmer groans.

Jerry enters, out of breath. He smiles at Elmer.

JERRY (CONT'D)
Hey Elmer, I thought that was you!
Hey, I heard you've been staking out places you think the killer might strike next. That's so cool.

ELMER
No it's doing what the cops should be doing, is what it is! And not even getting paid for it, that sound "cool" to you!?

JERRY
So... I was thinking, maybe you could use some company. A fresh set of eyes. Remember how you told me to read that license plate, and boy
I read it! We make a great team,
y'know?

ELMER
Yeah well... I prefer to work alone. Thanks though.

JERRY
Aw c'mon Elmer, lemme help. You saved my life, let me help you with this one little thing!! Pleeeeeeee--

ELMER
I said no, dangit!!

EXT./INT. JOGGING TRAIL / ELMER'S CAR - NIGHT

Elmer and Jerry both sit in the car, observing the surroundings. Jerry keeps whispering annoyingly.

JERRY
Hey Elmer, you see anything?

ELMER
Still no. Stop talking!

JERRY
Just thought we should check in.
I'll look this way, let you know if I see anything. Say, why do you think he might--

ELMER
Sssshh!!

Jerry falls silent. He unwraps his snack, celery sticks with tuna salad and eats it, making loud crunching sounds. Elmer groans, annoyed. Then he perks up when he sees headlights.

ELMER (CONT'D)
That's it, that's the car!

They watch as the green car with red doors quietly rolls up near part of the trail over the bridge, and parks.

Elmer puts his hand on his gun, watching.

JERRY
Wow, how'd you know that he'd come right to this spot!?

ELMER
Over the river, easy to dispose of a body after. Sshh.